Meet Your Bartlett Arborist Representative

Erik Anderson

Erik Anderson brings over 20 years of sales and management experience within the landscaping industry to our Elmsford, New York office. Erik studied Business Administration at Rutgers University which allowed him to further develop his technical skills. His early career was spent working within the green industry focusing on indoor/outdoor landscaping, specifically within urban environments. Erik spent many years of his career managing and coordinating some of the largest landscaping projects in Manhattan. Through this experience, he has grown to have a strong understanding of varying landscapes and how to successfully maintain green spaces. Embracing his passion for Arboriculture and environmental preservation, Erik joined the Bartlett team as an Arborist in October 2018. Managing the East Side of Manhattan, Erik is able to apply his knowledge and strong network of industry relationships to ensure that the landscape within the territory continues to thrive amongst its concrete surroundings.
