Meet Your Bartlett Arborist Representative

Michael Breth

Michael has always had a passion for environmental science. During his college career, he earned two bachelor's degrees in chemistry and environmental science respectively, which paved the way for his entrance into the green industry. Upon graduation, Michael began his career as a research botanist for a local park district, where he helped restore hundreds of acres of forest that were decimated by Emerald Ash Borer.

Michael is an ISA Board Certified Master Arborist, Municipal Specialist, and is Tree Risk Assessment Qualified with over 13 years of experience in the industry. He also serves as an adjunct instructor at Tri-C, teaching Arboriculture and Plant Health Care in their Plant Science and Landscape Technology Department. He looks forward to helping clients accomplish their landscape goals as an Arborist Representative.

In his spare time, Michael enjoys woodturning as an extension of his love for trees.
