Meet Your Bartlett Arborist Representative

Joseph Keefe

Joe Keefe has always loved the outdoors expecially trees and when it was time to decide a career path he enrolled in the arboriculture program at University of Massachusetts Stockbridge School of Agriculture. After earning an Associate's Degree at Stockbridge, Joe went on to graduate with a Bachelors degree in Urban Forestry at The University of Massachusetts-Amherst. As part of his course work, he completed an extended internship with Bartlett. After years of working in the field as a tree climber and plant health technician, Joe set his horizons on Texas where he became an Arborist Representative. Joe specializes in delivering clients custom soil management, insect and disease programs, and drought recovery programs that help their trees thrive. He is a member of the Texas Chapter of the International Society of Arboriculture (ISA), and is also an ISA Certified Arborist. Joe is actively involved in the community in the Heights.
