Meet Your Bartlett Arborist Representative

Matthew Walters

Matt has been part of the "green" industry for over 20 years. He has applied his well-rounded arboriculture experiences on landscapes in New York, Fairfield County Connecticut, and more recently, Northern New Jersey. Very early on in his career, Matt realized that his value to his clients would be helping them to make educated decisions on how best to maintain their investment in their landscapes. By working closely with people, and customizing every aspect of care for their trees and shrubs, Matt works diligently to meet and exceed client expectations every day. A key to Matt's success is his admiration and respect for nature, a consistent yearning to improve his professional knowledge base, and a strong desire to help his clients strike an ecological balance in managing their landscape environments.

Outside of his time with Bartlett, Matt enjoys an active lifestyle including fitness, golf, traveling, and relaxing with his wife and two sons. Matt is very excited to join the most talented team in the industry and looks forward to meeting the challenges he encounters along the way.
